Automated & Integrated DevOps

Effortless Security & Protection

Unconstrained Innovation

Unified Platform for Employee & Consumer Applications

Limitless Flexibility & Scalability

Speed, Simplicity, and Power

Combining the speed and ease of use of low-code application development with an enterprise-grade back-end integration, orchestration, and application services capability, Kony Quantum is the only platform that accelerates application delivery with unlimited capabilities. Kony Quantum enables you to create multiple digital experiences - like responsive and Progressive Web Apps, Native (iOS, Android, and Windows), and next-gen digital technologies such as chat bots, augmented reality, artificial intelligence, and more.

Kony Quantum is made up of two major components – a low-code integrated development environment (the Quantum Visualizer component) and a back-end integration, orchestration, and services layer (the Quantum Fabric component). Together these enable rapid application development without limits or constraints on what you can do. See the Kony Quantum platform architecture below.
