

Premier Power-Ups: Instructor Office Hours

Your Goal

Gain real-time knowledge on some of the toughest education topics available through personalized coaching and mentoring

Description

Office hours are scheduled to meet student needs. A certified instructor will answer, cover, teach, review, or help with anything in the training materials. Office hours are designed for organizations that have a team going through training at the same time and that might want periodic checkpoints or Q&A sessions.

What It Does For You

- A more personalized approach to training
- Train multiple developers on a specific feature

Requirements

- Developer(s) to have completed relevant training course(s)

How It Powers Up Your Implementation

Discovery

- Identify areas of clarification or topics requiring more personalized guidance

Engagement

- Accelerate development team knowledge

Outcomes

- Solve some of the most difficult challenges faced when back from training and in the workplace